This application contains claims 13-20 drawn to an invention nonelected with traverse in the reply filed on March 22, 2004. A complete reply to the final rejection must include cancelation of nonelected claims or other appropriate action (37 CFR 1.144) See MPEP § 821.01.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

> (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over WO 99/41196 or WO 00/44672.

WO '196 and WO '672 each suggest the instantly claimed process of making an anionic clay by reacting a divalent metal source, eg. magnesium oxide or hydroxide, with a trivalent metal source, eg. boehmite. See pp. 8,9,11-14 of '196 and pp. 8-13 of '672. Each of the reactants may have additives deposited or added, ie. doped, on them. See pg. 14 of '196 and pg. 13 of '672. Because the taught process is the same as that instantly claimed it would form the instantly claimed doped anionic clay.

The subject matter as a whole would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have selected the overlapping portion of the range disclosed by the reference because overlapping ranges have been held to be a prima facie case of obviousness, In re Malagari, 182 USPQ 549.

Applicant's arguments filed September 27, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that there is nothing in '672 or '196 to suggest that addition of additives to the aluminum or magnesium source involves more than preparing a physical mixture of the additive and the aluminum or magnesium source.

However the taught addition is seen to suggest the instantly claimed doping as it is broadly interpreted by the examiner. There is nothing in the instant specification which specifically defines such doping so that it may include the taught addition. Furthermore, '196, on pg. 15, teaches that such addition is advantageous for controlling the distribution of the metals and non-metals, ie. dopants, in the anionic clay, which is what is instantly detailed on pg. 5, lines 14-19 as an objective of the instant invention. The argument that the problem associated with a physical mixture of additive and aluminum or magnesium source is that the amount of additive ending up in the anionic clay is uncertain does not mean that the additive is not a dopant. With regard to the possibility of the additive being a water soluble salt, '196 teaches that the additives may be oxides which are not water soluble.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
